

Shoot MUCH Bigger Bucks-Begin on April 20th

The Biggie Bucks that show up on your nighttime trail cameras- do you actually take them? Second question: do you see on average AT LEAST one buck per hour on stand? You don't?

If not, it is because your land is NOT attractive to bucks. It's that simple. Boss bucks may visit after dark but the Matures see absolutely no reason to hang out during daylight. Heck, if you photograph Biggies every year but don't squeeze the trigger on them then what does this tell you? Bad luck? Nope. Bad neighbors? Nada...the cold, hard truth is simple- your land sucks...from a deer's point of view.

This you can fix. Here's how: April 20th From 11am-2pm

On Saturday, April 20th B&B Archery will present a free seminar on how to turbo-charge your property and make it so exciting your X-Box addicted teen will leave the electronics at home and stare wide-eyed at the parade of deer, and hang on every whispered word of woods lore wisdom that you can offer.

No yawning permitted- this is not a sit, doze, shrug and leave event. You will be learning and working. Bring coffee! This short 3 hour class will help you with working theories, present real-life examples and then help you to apply your new-found knowledge TO YOUR OWN PROPERTY.

Be prepared to do some sketching and coloring as you participate. Although the class is free, you should show up with some art supplies, available for about $22 at AC Moore, Michael's or Hobby Lobby. List Below.

Deer Habitat Seminar

Hosted by: B&B Archery
Saturday, April 20th, 2019
845-386-ARCH

Seating is limited so secure your spot(s) by calling B&B Archery at 845-386-2724.

- A pack of colored pencils- at least 12 colors: about $15
- A pencil sharpener for same- about $2
- A yellow #2 pencil or mechanical pencil- about $1
- A fine point writing pen- about $1
- A sheet of white Foam-Kore (about 20x30 inches): about $3. This will become an in-your-lap drawing board while you diagram.

You should also bring an aerial of your property; preferably when the leaves are down. That way, you can then practice designing options for your very own Big Buck, Slam Dunk Honey Hole